When you were a child, what did you want to be when you grew up? A professional basketball player.

What inspires you? People who are willing to serve in some capacity for the good of the community.

What do you dream about? I dream about a community where everyone is involved. It is amazing how much can be accomplished by working together.

What would your fight song be? "Thunderstruck" by AC/DC. I am not a fan of heavy metal music but that song really gets the blood flowing.

If you could live in any book, which would you choose? "Lost Horizon" by James Hilton. I think living in Shangri-La would be nice.

What makes you happy? Reaching goals, being with my wife, giving back to the community, socializing with friends, hitting a drive straight down the middle of the fairway, and a victory by the Dawgs on Saturday.

What do you regret? I don't regret anything. I have my whole life in front of me and would hate to let regret get in the way of me living it.

What personality trait do you most admire? Leadership

What would you like for the world to know about you? That I am a great keeper of secrets.
