

Out of Africa

M.A.P. International provides hope for Kenyan women with HIV and Aids.

A pearl of great price is an investment in beauty. An inexpensive pendant of cow horn is an investment in life.

Cow horn and cow bone are just two of the materials used to create a line of Kenyan jewelry and crafts sold by the Brunswick nonprofit MAP (Medical Assistance Programs) International. The jewelry, which has proven a big seller in the Golden Isles, is made by Kenyan women infected with HIV and AIDS. Profits from the sale of the jewelry go to their support.

Story by Lori Lamore
Photos by Michael Hall